

GOLD CREEK STATION

Where the city meets the bush

Gold Creek is a working pastoral property in the Canberra region. It currently runs merino sheep and beef cattle.

A visit to Gold Creek is guaranteed to be both an enjoyable and enlightening experience in a friendly relaxed atmosphere. For 20 years, the Starrs have been providing entertaining and informative demonstrations on the workings of a pastoral property.

On arrival at Gold Creek Station, tour groups are welcomed with refreshing country hospitality by their hosts, Craig and Sandra Starr.

Sandra is an excellent country cook. Craig is an expert on all facets of farming such as animal husbandry, property management, artificial breeding and sheep dog training.

Activities and Attractions

Watch Australian kelpie dogs work merino sheep.

Enjoy a BBQ lunch.

See sheep shearing demonstrations.

Listen to stories about the Australian way in the Bush.

After lunch enjoy a leisurely cup of tea or coffee and relax beneath the expansive Australian sky breathing in the fresh county air.

In cooler weather warm your toes before the hearth of a large open fire.

Take a walk on the farm and see the kangaroos and wildlife.

If you want to extend your farm adventure, farm tours are available at a small additional cost.

Group Planner Information

When planning for your groups to visit our farm, please remember that we cater for both small or large groups. Our service is prompt and friendly with typical Australian charm, both when booking your tour and when your group arrive at our farm.

We are aware of special dietary needs of some of our visitors and are happy to accommodate their needs. All we ask is some advance notice to prepare suitable meals.

Coach tours, from Sydney to our doorstep are available through reputable coach lines, AAT King, Australian Pacific Tours, and Murrays.

There is convenient and easy access to coach parking. The area, where demonstrations and meals are held, can be easily navigated by all visitors.

Make Gold Creek Station a definite visit when you come to Canberra. If you require further information or would like to make a booking, contact Craig and Sandra Starr by email or write to us at our postal address.
